About MessageStats Report Pack for Sendmail and Postfix 7.4.1

Some companies deploy perimeter email servers situated between their internal Exchange mail servers and the Internet. These perimeter servers, usually Sendmail or Postfix, are first point of contact with email arriving from the Internet.

The MessageStats Report Pack for Sendmail and Postfix provides reports to help you understand how the Sendmail or Postfix perimeter servers are functioning in your messaging environment. The report pack is an add-on to MessageStats and provides reporting about the Sendmail and Postfix servers such as incoming and outgoing message counts, and identifies the Internet domains that are sending information to and receiving information.

MessageStats Report Pack for Sendmail and Postfix 7.4.1 is a minor release.
